

ALEXANDER HARDIN (C'26)

My name is Alexander Hardin, and I'm a senior double-majoring in flight operations and aviation management. I have had the opportunity to stay actively involved as a member of the tennis team and in my role as a student ambassador. Being part of the tennis team has taught me discipline and teamwork, while my work as a student ambassador has helped me grow as a leader and connect with future students and their families.

The support I have received has made a meaningful difference in my college experience. Scholarships have allowed me to pursue both my majors without as much financial stress. Additionally, the resources available, especially in the aviation department, have given me the confidence and the training I need to succeed. After graduation, I plan to become an airline pilot. Thanks to the education, experiences, and support I have received at UD, I feel well prepared for what's ahead. I'm incredibly thankful to those who invest in students like me!
