

AUSTIN THOMSON (C'29)

My name is Austin, and I'm a freshman at UD, double-majoring in theatre and music. I've always loved performing and storytelling, and I hope to pursue acting or directing in the future! On campus, I am involved in theatre, concert choir, chamber choir, and marching band. UD has been a great place for me to learn and grow, and it has felt like home from the second I stepped on campus.

The people at the University of Dubuque truly make all the difference in our lives. I am able to learn from the best faculty and staff members who truly care about us as students. This also includes the people who invest in UD. As an arts student, the investments in the theatre and band programs have strengthened the opportunities available and will create well-rounded students.
