

KJ JAMES (C'25)

My name is Andre KeiJhuan James, but most people call me KJ. I'm a senior from O'Fallon, Illinois. During my time at UD, I've had the opportunity to compete on the football team and even spent a year on the baseball team. Athletics have played a major role in my experience and have helped shape the person I am today. What I appreciate most about UD are the opportunities to get involved and grow.

I've been part of the Bridge Program, completed a strength and conditioning internship, and been involved in athletics. After graduation, I will be heading to TCU for a Human Performance internship, where I hope to take my next step toward my goal of becoming a strength coach. The support UD receives has made an impact on my journey. The resources that are offered supported me when I returned to UD after facing some setbacks in 2021. This made it possible for me to continue my academic and athletic career. The University of Dubuque is a special place, made possible by the people and the relationships. I have made so many connections and friendships that will last a lifetime.
