

OTIS PATTERSON (C'23, MM'25)

Originally from Chicago, Illinois, Otis earned his bachelor of arts in communication in 2023, and is now working on his masters in management and is set to graduate in the spring of 2025. As an All-American track and field athlete, a member of Alpha Chi, and a Wendt scholar alum, Otis has embraced opportunities for leadership and growth.

Looking ahead, Otis plans to use his degrees to pursue a career in professional sports, whether working for a major sports media company or a professional team. He is also open to continuing his track and field career at the professional level. Reflecting on his journey, Otis credits the support and resources at UD for shaping his success, helping him step out of his shell, and motivating him to give back to this community. He shares his gratitude to those who invest in UD, emphasizing that it's the people who make this University truly special - from the encouraging professors to the unwavering support of the athletics department.
